Friday April 5th

3:30 Welcome by Alan Mikhail and Ellen Nye
3:45 Panel 1: Money on the Move
  Sebouh Aslanian, UCLA: “Exceptional Normals?”: On Bilingual Bills of Exchange and Trust Relations Between Julfan Armenians and Marwari Indians in Isfahan and Surat, c. 1730
  Maxine Berg, University of Warwick: The Nootka Moment: Trade and Encounter on the Northwest Pacific Coast 1774-1794
  Ali Yaycioğlu, Stanford University: Trading Money - Weaving the Order: Financial Caretakers, Commissioners and Financiers in the Ottoman Empire and Beyond, 1650-1850
Moderator: Emily Erikson, Yale University

Saturday April 6th

10:00 Panel 2: Institutions of Long-Distance Trade
  Şevket Pamuk, Boğaziçi University: Long-distance Trade and Economic Institutions in the Ottoman and Mughal Empires
  Prasannan Parthasarathi, Boston College: Weavers and Merchants: The Transition to a Colonial Economy
  Ariel Salzmann, Queen’s University: An Eighteenth-Century Ottoman-Mysorean Customs Union: An Essay in Counterfactual History
Moderator: Martha Howell, Columbia University

1:30 Panel 3: Nineteenth-Century Transitions?
  Alex Chase-Levenson, University of Pennsylvania: The End of the Plague: A Mediterranean Event
  Philip Stern, Duke University: Corporations and the British Empire in the Age of Reform
  Peter Perdue, Yale University: Interlopers, Rogues, or Cosmopolitans?: Wu Jianzhang and Early Modern Commercial Networks on the China Coast
Moderator: Francesca Trivellato, Institute for Advanced Studies

April 5 & April 6 | Luce Hall, Room 203 | 34 Hillhouse Ave